THE PEN'S DEXTERITY.

SECT. I.

Of the Alphabet of Letters or Characters.

THE first thing to be learnt in this incomparable Art, is the Alphabet of Letters, which must be done so perfectly, according to the true Shapes expressed in the Copy, that you may be able exactly to write any of them readily without looking on the same, because they are the great Part of that Foundation upon which you are to proceed in the attaining the following Work; every Letter standing for a Word in the Practice of this Art.

S E C T. II.

Of the Double Consonants.

THESE Double Consonants are no other than the Letters of the Alphabet joined together, and therefore are no Charge to the Memory; the Alphabet being perfectly got by Heart as is before shewed; and in the making of these double Letters you must observe, that still the second Letter is joined to the first, where you end the former, without removing Pen from Paper.

S E C T. III.

Of some Double Consonants to be got by Heart.

THESE Double Consonants are of great Use, and expressed in the last Column of the Page engraven, and they stand for Words: bl. standing for blessed; gl. standing for Glory; kn. for Knowledge; sh. for shalt; mp. for Impediment; a small c. for th. or that; a double c. joined together stands for several Words, thus, this, these, their; and this is no Trouble in reading, the Sense making up that Defect wheresoever these Words are used; and the last there is gr. for Grace. See Plate 1. A.

How

How Words are expressed by (e) either before the Vowels or after in these Examples, either by the Table or otherways, in several long Words and Names at the Beginning or ending of Words, as in these following Examples will appear.

When (e) must be omitted.

When (e) comes before a Word, it must be omitted, as in these Words :

em. en. el. ef. es. ex. er.

(e) when it follows a Word, it must be omitted, as in these Words :

de. be. pe. te. ge.

S E C T. IV.

Of the Four Vowels, and how they are to be placed about any Letter.

THE four single Vowels are a, i, o, u, and there is no need of making a Distinction between the u Vowel and v Consonant, as will appear in the following Method; and by the same Rule, there is no Use in this Art either of Diphthongs or Double Vowels: The Intent of the Practice of short and swift Writing, aiming only at Sounds of Words, not the Truth of Spelling: For placing the four Vowels about any Letter, I have in the Plate 1. A. given you six Examples, in which you have all the Variety of those Letters contained in the Alphabet, whether upright, side-wise, or flat; and therein have so clearly ordered the Vowels, that I think it impertinent to reiterate singly that which is so plain and perspicuous; therefore I shall refer you absolutely to those Examples of Words, that are only expressed by the Rule of the Alphabet which immediately follows. See Plate 10. A 2.

Mr. John Willis, the Divine, the first Publisher of the Art of Short Writing, in his Art of Stenography, hath spent much Time and and Pains in shewing what Letters may be omitted, and yet the Word properly sounded, which he calls the Abbreviation of all Words ; wherein he shews how the Choice of the sounding Letter or Letters in a Word are used, whether Double Vowels or Double Consonants ; and after him Mr. Shelton hath done the like.

All which in this following Work are more completely performed without those tedious Discourses, and very plainly laid open to your Sight in all the engraven Pages contained in the Book ; wherein the Words are at large engraved, and the Word by the Character and Rule performed so, that the first Rule here proposed by the Alphabet is completed with more Variety of Words according to that Rule, than hath been usually performed ; to which Rule you have five complete Pages of engraven Examples before, viz. 10, 11, 12, 13, the Plate 14. only, which is the Names of the Books of the Old and New Testament, being mixed with three or four Marks, which follow in the next Section to be discoursed of in order.

S E C T. V.

Of the Prepositions and Terminations, commonly called Marks for long Words.

NOW supposing that you are completed in the former Rule laid down by the Alphabet by which (some say) any Word may be writ; yet that Words may be more expeditiously performed than by the first Rule, especially if long, this more short and speedy Way is plainly laid down by several Examples, as in the former. And now your Work in Plate 17. B. presented to your View, must be learnt as perfectly by Heart, as your first Page to your former rule, because the Foundation of this second Rule depends upon it.

Of Prepositions and Terminations, we have in this Book expressed seventy-six; all exactly performed according to the Character expressed in the Psalms and Testament, to save the Learner Labour, or his tedious Search for the Help of his more easy Attainment of this Art. See Plate 17. B.

They are generally made without the Removal of the Pen; by writing them over sometimes with Care, you will find them ready to make, and not difficult to remember. Here are two Pages of Examples of Words, writ by the Rule of the Alphabet, joined with those of the Prepositions and Terminations, and expressed in one hundred and twenty-four Examples. See Plate 18. B. 2. and 19. B. 3.

S E C T. VI.

Of Ideas and Symbolical Characters.

THESE serve for Words and Sentences, and are mixed with the two former Rules for Abbreviation; therefore you need not fear either their Burthen to the Memory, or the Difficulty in the attaining of them; they are more concise than the former Rules, and therefore added to them, being to be learnt almost as soon as writ, and are a good Introduction to the following Rule of Contractions.

There are three Pages of these Characters all correspondent to the Rule of our Author in his Testament and Psalms, whereby the Learner may read exactly, and become Master of this Art without an Instructor. See Plate 20, 21, 22. C.

The Explanation of the first four Rules of Contractions, contained in Plates 31, 32.

THE first Rule is expressed by one Tittle, and thus disposed: At the middle of a Substantive, the Tittle on the left Hand against the middle of the Substantive tive signifies to come to. Of this you have several Examples in the graven Copy of Contractions at the Beginning of the first Page.

The Tittle on the right Hand, against the Middle of the Substantive, signifies to depart from. Of which also the Examples follow in the graven Copy, to which I refer you.

The second Rule is expressed by two Tittles, and these are disposed into six several Places about the Substantive.

The first Place is directly over the Head of the Substantive, and signifies Men or Sons.

The second on the left Hand, is even with the Head, and signifies Saints.

The third is on the right Hand, even with the Head, and signifies Women or Daughters.

The fourth about the Substantive is even at the Bottom on the left Hand, and signifies Servants.

The fifth is on the right Hand, even with the Bottom, and signifies Children.

The sixth and last Place is directly under the Bottom of the Substantive, and signifies People.

The third Rule is expressed by three Tittles, and hath eight Places disposed about the Substantive.

Th

The first Place is directly over the Head, and signifies Laws.

The second is even with the Head of the Substantive on the left Hand, and signifies Ways.

The third is even with the Head on the right Hand, and signifies Love.

The fourth is against the middle of the Substantive on the left Hand, and signifies Works.

The fifth is against the middle on the right Hand, and signifies Power.

The sixth is even with the Bottom of the Substantive on the left Hand, and signifies Worship.

The seventh is even with the Bottom, on the right Hand, and signifies Fear.

The eight and last Place about the Substantive is directly under the Bottom, and signifies Wisdom.

The fourth rule hath two Tittles disposed one under another, and six Places about the Substantive.

The first Place directly over the Head of the Substantive, and signifies Doctrine.

The second even with the Head, on the left Hand, and signifies called.

The third even with the Head, on the right Hand, and signifies far enough.

The fourth even with the Foot of the Substantive, on the left Hand, and signifies backslide.

The fifth is even with the Foot, on the right Hand, and signifies joined.

The sixth is directly under the Foot of the Substantive, and signifies Beauty.

S E C T. VIII.

The eleven following Rules have each of them four Places allotted about the Substantive, (as in Plate 32. D 2. Plate 33. D 3.) and are thus disposed.

THE fifth Rule, expressed by the Character b over the Head of the Substantive, stands for Happiness.

Against the Middle of the Substantive, on the left Hand, it stands for Heaviness.

And on the right side of the Substantive, against the middle, it signifies Holiness.

Under the Bottom of the Substantive it signifies Humility.

The sixth Rule is expressed by the Character k, which placed over the Head of the Substantive, signifies Calamity.

On the left Hand, against the Middle, Kindness.

seventh Rule is expressed by the Character l, about the Substantive, and that over the Head signifies Coldness.

And underneath the Substantive, it signifies Covenant.

The seventh Rule is expressed by the Character l, about the Substantive, and that over the Head signifies Labour.

Against the Middle, on the left Hand, it signifies Life.

On the right Hand, against the Middle,
it signifies Loss.

And underneath, it signifies, Humiliation.

The eighth Rule is expressed by the Character m, which over the Substantive signifies Majesty.

On the left Hand, against the Middle, signifies Misery.

On the right Hand, against the Middle,
signifies Mercy.

And underneath, it signifies Multitude.

The ninth Rule is expressed by the Character n, and that over the Head of the Substantive signifies Nature.

Against the Middle, on the left Hand, signifies Necessity.

On the right Hand, against the Middle,
signifies Negligence.

And underneath the Substantive, it signifies Number.

The tenth Rule is expressed by the Character p, which over the Head of the Substantive signifies Pains.

Against the Middle, on the left Hand it signifies to presume.

On the right Hand, against the Middle to pass away.

Underneath the Substantive, it signifies Punishment.

The eleventh Rule is expressed by the Character r, and that over the Substantive signifies Righteousness.

Against the Middle, on the left Hand, to run to.

Against the Middle, on the right Hand to run away from.

And underneath, it signifies Resurrection.

The twelfth Rule is expressed by the Letter s, and that over the Head of the Substantive signifies Safety.

On the left Hand, against the Middle of the Substantive, Security.

On the right Hand, against the Middle of the Substantive, separate.

And underneath the Substantive, it signifies Subtilty.

The thirteenth Rule is expressed by the Character t, and that over the Head of the Substantive signifies taught.

Against

Against the Middle, on the left Hand, Testimony.

Against the Middle, on the right Hand,
Torment.

And under the Substantive, it signifies Troubles.

The fourteenth Rule is expressed by the Character u, and that over the Head of the Substantive signifies Vanity.

Against the Middle, on the left Hand, it signifies Virtue.

On the right Hand, against the Middle,
Voice.

And underneath it signifies Unity.

The fifteenth and last Rule is expressed by the Character w, and that over the Head of the Substantive signifies Want.

On the left Hand, against the Middle of the Substantive, when you come to.

On the right Hand, against the Middle of the Substantive, when you depart from.

And underneath the Substantive, it signifies Wonder.

N. B. Now having repeated thus plainly in Words, the Rules more exactly engraven in Characters, for your Example and Imitation, as a pleasant Diversion, no burthenfome Task, I suppose any ordinary Capacity capacity may by these few contrive other Words answering the Sentential Substances so clearly manifested with Design to promote the Perfection of this most ingenious Invention of our deceased Author.

S E C T. IX.

Of Additional Contractions. Plate 33.

THE first of these Contractions is signified by the Tittle under the Substantive, and thus disposed, as in the engraven Copy will appear, to understand the Law.

The second is the common Character of Gospel, the Tittle standing under symbolically signifies to understand the Gospel.

The third Contraction is Scripture, and is the common Character; the Tittle standing under symbolically signifies to understand the Scriptures.

The fourth Character is the common Character of Faith, and the Tittle underneath signifies to understand Faith.

The second Additional Contraction is G. turned on one side, which symbolically signifies God will not give; and the Tittle added over is in the second Rule of Contractions, and signifies Son, but over the Head

Head of the Substantive in that Rule, which signifies God will not give his Son.

The second Sentence in this Contraction is g. turned on one Side, and the three Tittles placed even with the Letter G signifies Love; and this is according to the third Order of the four first Contractions, placed thus on the right Hand of the Substantive, and signifies, God will not give his Law.

The third Sentence is g. turned on one Side, and the Character m. placed against the Middle of the Substantive on the right Hand, according to the eighth Rule of Contractions, m. there signifying Mercy, and the Sentence there, God will give his Mercy.

The fourth Sentence is g. turned, and three Tittles over the Substantive, which signifies Law; this is in the third Rule of Contractions, and the first Place over the Substantive, which here signifies, God will not give his Law.

The sixth Sentence is g. turned, and a Stroke made slopewise through the Substantive, which signifies Christ, according to our Author's own Practice, and here signifies God will not give Christ.

In the third additional Contraction, the first Sentence is in order to the Wisdom of D God,

God, and according to the third Rule of Contractions, placed in the eighth Place about the Substantive, which is directly under it.

The second Sentence is in order to the Worship of God, which is contained in the third Rule of Contractions, the sixth Place about the Substantive, against the Bottom on the left Hand.

The third Sentence is in order to the Law of God, and according to the third Rule placed over the Substantive in the first Place.

The fourth Sentence is in order to the Fear of God; and that by the third Rule of Contractions is even with the Foot of the Substantive on the right Hand, and hath the seventh Place about the Substantive in order is symbolically expressed, the o standing for order, and a Tittle put into the o stands for in order.

In the fourth Additional Contractions the first Sentence is, to question the Worship of God, which is in the third Rule of Contractions, the sixth Place about the Substantive, even with the Foot on the left Hand.

The second Sentence is, to question the Ways of God; and according to the third Rule of Contractions is in the second Place about about the Substantive, even with the Head on the right Hand.

The third Sentence is, to question the Fear of God; and is in the third Rule of Contractions, the seventh Place about the Substantive, even with the Foot on the left Hand.

The fifth Additional Contraction; the first Sentence is, to be joined to the People of God, and the n. drawn from the Middle of the g. signifies to be joined. The two Tittles placed under the Substantive, according to the second Rule of Contractions, in the sixth Place, just under it, signify People.

The second Sentence is, to be joined to the Servants of God. And in the second Contraction, the Place of Servants is against the Bottom of the Substantive on the left Hand, expressed by two Tittles.

The third Sentence is, to be joined to the Children of God; and this in the said second Rule of Contraction is even with the Bottom of the Substantive on the right Hand, expressed by two Tittles.

The sixth Additional Contraction; the first Sentence is, to embrace the People of God; where you see a Stroke through the g. signifies to embrace the People, placed as aforesaid under the Substantive.

The second Sentence is, to embrace the Saints of God; and in the second Rule of Contractions, the Place of Saints about the Substantive is even with the Top on the left Hand.

The third Sentence is, to embrace the Cross of Christ; and for this in the Ideas you will find the Cross of Christ. and a Stroke through signifies to embrace.

The seventh Additional Contraction: The Addition of a double Contraction is expressed by two Letters; and the first of these is, to be merciful as God is merciful. In the Eighth Rule of Contractions, Mercy is placed against the Middle of the Substantive on the right Hand, and here is expressed in that Place as significantly by a double m.

The second is, to be holy as God is holy; and in the fifth Rule of Contractions, holy is against the Middle of the Substantive on the right Hand, and here expressed by a double h; this h. standing for holy, and is implied to be doubly repeated.

The third is, to be humble as Christ was humble. In the aforesaid fifth Contraction, Humility is directly under the Substantive, and here expressed by a double h.

The fourth is, to be happy as the Saints of God are happy; and in the said fifth Rule of of Contractions, the Place of Happiness is just over the Head of the Substantive; and for the Place of Saints, you know it hath been given before in the second Rule of Contractions, at the left Hand, even with the Top of the Substantive. Thus you see plainly, that more than one Contraction may be used with great Advantage.

The fifth is, to be miserable as the World is miserable. Misery or miserable, hath been alike used by our Author in his Practice; and the Place of Misery about the Substantive is even against the Middle, in the eighth Rule of Contractions.

The eighth Additional by a double Contraction; the first, from God to Man. This Additional refers to the first Rule of Contractions, where you will find the Tittle placed against the Middle of the Substantive on the right Hand, and there it signifies to go or depart from; so that this is symbolically expressed, the Tittle standing, from God to Man.

The second, from Man to God.

Also these depend upon the first Contraction; and are so clearly shewn, that they require no further Explanation.

The Explanation of the second Plate of Additional Contractions (Plate 44.) shews how to abbreviate Words by the Letter b.

FIRST, the Character b. against the Middle of the Substantive on the right Side, signifies by, as will plainly appear in the six Examples of the engraven Plate.

The Second Additional Contractions are by the Letter d. or nothing, which is in the fifth Place of d. in the Table, and must be put on the left Side, at the Foot of the Substantive, as will appear by the Examples in the aforesaid Plate.

The Third Additional is, to come to, being only an Additional to the first four Rules that are explained in our former Impression.

The Fourth Additional, to depart from, is also an Additional to the first four Rules, and explained as the former.

The Fifth Contraction is an Addition to the first of the four Rules expressed in four Examples, and needs no farther Discourse.

The Sixth Additional is by the Idea and Symbolical Rules, and needs no other Direction.

The Seventh is an Additional to the second of the first four Rules of Contractions, to which I refer you.

The Eighth Additional refers to the Third of the first four Rules, and is there explained.

of Contractions, Plate 45.*

The first Additional Rule is, be it far from, and expressed by a double Distance from the Substantive on the right Side.

The second Additional is an equal Distance from the Substantive, and signifies before, being placed on the right Hand of the Substantive.

The third Additional shews how to express a Question, and refers to the third of the first four Rules.

The fourth Additional refers to the second Rule of the first four Rules of Contractions.

The fifth Additional shews that the Tittles placed near the Substantive signify, to keep close to, &c. and refers to the third Rule of the first four Contractions.

The sixth Additional refers to the second Rule of the first four Contractions, &c.

The seventh Additional shews the Place of d. in a Contraction, placed on the left Side at the Foot of the Substantive, and signifies to be delivered to, &c.

The eighth Additional shews the Place of d. over the Head of a Substantive, and signifies to be doubtful of, &c.

41 The Pen's Dexterity completed.

The ninth Additional shews the Place of d. under the Substantive, and signifies Depth.

The tenth and last Additional shews the Place of d. at the Foot of the right Side of the Substantive, and signifies to be delivered from, &c.

The last Plate of Contractions hath every Rule not only expressed but explained.

Thus have I ended my Additions to the sixth Edition of his Book, and may modestly aver more than Mr. Rich in his Life time did perform; he himself having published to the World, that the Table was not sufficient to teach that Art, without his Assistance and Direction, although the Testament and Psalms were then printed; but it is now apparent, that since the Publication of this Book, many have attained the Art without the aforesaid Charge of the Author, and tedious Expence of Time.
